To apply for the ULM Practitioner Teacher Preparation Program (PTPP) academic program, you must have a ULM Admissions Account. From this account, you can apply to ULM program, check your application status, or review a list of required admission documents

If you do not already have a ULM Admissions Account, creating one takes just a few minutes. The information required includes providing your name and contact info, prior college(s) attended, and which Post-Baccalaureate program you want (Elementary or Secondary Education). You will also need to provide your Social Security Number, a valid email address, and create a password. There is a $20 application fee payable by credit/debit card prior to submission to ULM.

Before you create your ULM Admissions Account or apply to the PTPP programs, be aware of the following:

- a. The PTPP/ Post-Baccalaureate program is considered an undergraduate program.
- b. While PTPP classes may be taken online, it is considered an on-campus program.
- c. Make sure to select the On-Campus Undergraduate application, as the PTPP programs are not available on other ULM applications.
